BONAPARTE DELIVERS ADDRESS IN CHICAGO

Attorney General Speaks Before Annual Convention of National Prison Association.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., Sept. 18.—An address by Attorney General Charles J. Bonaparte made this the most interesting and important day of the annual convention of the National Prison Association, which has been in session here since Saturday. Mr. Bonaparte's address was delivered at the University of Chicago this afternoon in the presence of a large and distinguished assemblage of prison wardens, clergymen, philanthropists and others from many sections of the United States and Canada. The subject of the address was "Punishment and Pardon." Other speakers heard were Samuel J. Barrows, D. L., president of the national Prison Association, and John K. Kern, special agent of the United States Census Bureau, both of whom gave statistics of crime and criminals in the United States. The sessions of the convention will be concluded tomorrow.

SECOND ASSOCIATION BUILDING PROBABLE

Y. M. C. A. Directors Hold Meeting and Consider Plans of Another Association Building.

Pencil-sketched plans for a Y. M. C. A. building, that may possibly be erected in the vicinity of the new North-Western Assorting yards south of the city, were presented at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. board of directors last evening and were discussed by the different members of the directory. Within ten days well-drawn plans for a Y. M. C. A. building will have been designed and ready to be sent to the officials of the North-Western company for their inspection. The officials of the company have forbidden themselves in the possible erection of an association building at the new yards and upon a recent visit of Superintendent Peckin, of the Wisconsin division, to this city a long conference was held between him and Secretary J. C. Kline of the association. It is stated that better terms than the donation of a building site have been made by the company, but the particulars of this offer are withheld for the time being. General State Secretary Anderson of the Y. M. C. A. was in the city Monday for the purpose of going over the plans of the prospective building. The plans have been turned over to the building committee composed of Dr. E. L. Loomis, chairman, A. G. Anderson and H. M. Hanson, who will have the plans drawn in ink and sent to the company's officials. The present plans, which have not been perfected yet, call for a building two stories high with a basement, and 32x40 feet in dimensions. On the first floor are sketched a lunch and dining room, kitchen, parlor and game room, and a large sleeping room. On the second floor are two bedrooms, each large enough for two beds, and a row of lockers in the hall. The bath and laundry rooms are arranged in the basement. From the interest taken in the project, both by the association and the railroad company, it seems probable that a Y. M. C. A. building will be built at the new North-Western yards. The plans call for a building that will accommodate 25 persons.

CLASH BETWEEN THE HORSE AND AUTO?

Clinton Price, Who May Be Candidate For Mayor of Milwaukee, Drives Fancy Horse and Likes Good Roads.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 18.—Mayor "Shirley" Becker accounted for Mauston at an early hour in his automobile, and will make another good roads speech.

"We want enthusiasm for this movement," said the mayor. "We want the kind that can wait for developments and make the best of everything."

Meanwhile friends of Clinton Price, assistant city attorney, claim that their candidate for mayor—man, named, "is true, as yet—just as much in favor of good roads as Becker."

For Price takes delight in riding great steeds upon good roads, the selfsame upon which Becker likes to "zoom" in his automobile.

It looks like a clash between the horse and auto, and the horseless age at the next spring election.

NATIONAL LEAGUE OF MUNICIPALITIES

Prominent Leaders in Municipal Government and Reform Will Speak at Convention.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Norfolk, Va., Sept. 18.—The eleventh annual meeting of the League of American Municipalities began its business sessions today in Armory Hall in this city. The gathering is a remarkable one for many reasons. The convention has no patronage to bestow, the only motive drawing the participants together being the desire to secure honest and economical administration of affairs in the cities of the country.

The subject that will overshadow all others scheduled for consideration by the convention is the question of municipal government by board or commission as compared with the old form of government by mayor and council. Among those who will participate in the discussion of this subject are Mayor Harris of Fort Worth, Texas, Mayor Rieft of Charleston, S. C., James G. Herrington, the author of the Des Moines plan of commission government; Dr. W. H. Allen, secretary of the league of municipal reform; New York city; John R. Davis, chairman finance committee of the board of aldermen of New York city, and Rear Admiral Chadwick, U. S. N.

Two other subjects that will receive the attention of the convention are "Municipal Ownership" and "Low Taxes for Public Service Versus Franchise Taxation." Friday will be observed as "Municipal Day" at the exposition, when addresses will be delivered by Governor Cummins of Iowa, former Mayor Duane of Chicago, Governor Dawson of Virginia, and others of wide prominence.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

This fall the first year class will number nearly 140 while that of last year, which was the largest in the history of the institution, was 130 strong. The first number on the program of the college year is the convocation service which occurs this afternoon. The annual race meet between the "soph" and "freshies" will take place in the city park Friday and the common council at its weekly meeting recognized the frolic by ordering that three policemen be on the scene to protect the natural beauties of the park. The use of the park was granted in the plan that it was a public playground and should be used as such.

LAST SURVIVOR OF FAMOUS CLASS IS 30

Trowbridge, Author and Poet, at Age of Eighty, Is Only Survivor of Atlantic Club.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Sept. 18.—J. T. Trowbridge, the well-known author and poet, observed his eightieth birthday very quietly today at his home in Arlington. Mr. Trowbridge is still strong and active, and in excellent health. He has been at home almost all the summer and may be seen any day walking about the streets of Arlington. He attributes his good health to constant exercise.

Mr. Trowbridge is the last survivor of the famous Atlantic Club and the last one of the contributors to the first issue of The Atlantic Monthly. In his earlier years he enjoyed intimate relations with many great figures of the greatest period in American literature, among them Walt Whitman, Longfellow, Emerson, Lowell and Holmes. Of the fifty books Mr. Trowbridge has written all are alive, and his boys' books have had new editions each year. At present he is not engaged in any special writing, taking up the pen "only when the spirit moves," as he puts it himself.

LONDON A DISMAL SWAMP IS A NOTABLE STATEMENT

Condition Of Meat And Packing Houses In London Is Reported In Public Speech.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Sept. 18.—Sir James Crickton-Browne, in delivering the presidential address at the annual meeting of the sanitary inspectors' association at Lambeth, referred to the English meat supply and urged the abolition of private slaughter houses and the providing of abattoirs and a central office for meat inspection. Then people no longer would find "prize Christmas fat beef absolutely filled with generalized tuberculosis." He added: "If Chicago has its jungle London has its dismal swamp."

In another part of his address the eminent physician denounced what he described as the prevalent craze for getting thin. On all hands, he said, the cry is that we eat too much. "So fierce is the propaganda of the dietetic asceticism that in dread of being suspected of gluttony people only indulge their healthy appetite in secret. This craze, Sir James declared, was producing a debility which sufferers therefrom were seeking to combat by indulging in alcohol and narcotics."

JAPAN CLAIMS LAND THAT IS A NO-MAN'S TERRITORY

Reaches Far Out Into The Pacific And Takes Formal Possession Of Prates Island.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Victoria, B. C., Sept. 18.—According to advices from Tokyo, Japan claims the right to occupy Prates Island, which was recently taken possession of on behalf of Japan, on the ground that, as it lies between the twentieth and twenty-first parallels, it is no man's land. A Japanese pa-por, just received, says: "When Japan took possession of Formosa, she extended her dominion to the twenty-first parallel of latitude and America took possession of the Philippines she extended her dominion to the twentieth parallel, thus the space between the twentieth and the twenty-first parallel becomes a no man's land and the island of Prates is in north latitude 20.45."

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

He was injured internally and it is thought he will never recover. The accident occurred in front of Baker & Co's hardware store, a large crowd of bystanders down town being attracted to the scene where the man was hurt immediately after he fell to the ground. Dr. Spencer was summoned and a little later a Janesville physician was telephoned for, arriving here at noon. Sorrenson came here from Brooklyn, Wis., about a month ago and had been employed as lineman here for the past four weeks. He has no relatives in this place and it is not known where his home is. He is a man about 21 years of age.

DEAD HORSE FOUND IN ERECT POSITION

Farmer Near Florence, Wis., Unable to Explain Mystery of His Horse "Charlie."

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Florence, Wis., Sept. 18.—Charles Simpson, a farmer living across the state line in Michigan, found his favorite horse, "Charlie" standing stock still and dead in his field. The horse perfectly erect, with head down, as if eating grass.

"Charlie," said Master Charlie, "want for you are standing like dead?" No answer; so Master Charlie left Horsey Charlie standing. They were old friends and understood each other. An hour later the master returned and "Charlie" was in the same old place, in the same old position. The horse was dead. The mystery has not been explained.

A review of troops by Governor Proctor was the principal feature of the afternoon program.

The life-saving crew took off the men of the boats early this morning and tug are now working at the boats, but there is not much danger of breaking up as the seas are not very high.

To Test Law

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—That the Western Union Telegraph company may be laying plans for testing the validity of the ad valorem law which has just been passed as to apply to telegraph companies seems probable by reason of the fact that the payment of taxes has been delayed so that they are liable to the fifteen per cent penalty.

OKLAHOMA VS. WISCONSIN.
A year ago today Oklahoma had a larger population than any other state in the Union at the time of its admission, and a population larger than any except Virginia, of the original thirteen when they came together to form "a more perfect Union."

But with all this Oklahoma is sadly behind most of her eastern sisters. For instance, in Wisconsin BBS HUR FLOUR is for sale in every first class grocery store, whereas the Oklahoma nation cannot obtain this excellent flour at any price.

BURTON STIRS THE POLITICIANS

OHIO CONGRESSMAN TO TAKE CARE OF JOHNSON.

LUMBER TRUST IS NEXT

Filipinos Arrive Home—Would Unite Arizona and Nevada as One State.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—The political surprise of the hour is the resignation of Congressman Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, for the purpose of entering the lists against Mayor Johnson, of Cleveland. It is believed to be part of a well-defined plan to support the Taft machine in the Chicago State, and it is regarded as altogether probable that President Roosevelt, if he did not advise it, gave it his complete sanction. In the opinion of his friends here, Mr. Burton has his work cut out for him. It is certain that the Foraker-Blick machine, although it is compelled to give apparent support to the Burton candidacy, will have heaven and earth in endeavoring to defeat the congressman's ambitions. It is recognized that Mr. Burton's race for the majority is only the first dash in the contest for a seat in the United States senate. For this reason it is expected that neither Senator Foraker nor Senator Blick will over-exert themselves in helping him. Congressman Burton's time, for the last little while, has been taken up largely in writing resolutions. Only a few days ago it was announced that he had withdrawn as chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, post that he has filed with distinction for a number of years. Now that he has decided to run for mayor of his home city, he also will be compelled to resign the chairmanship of the Inland Waterways Commission, to which he was appointed by President Roosevelt last spring.

Not Repeating.
Although he is supposed to be resting, President Roosevelt perhaps is the busiest member of his administration at the present time. He is hard at work at Sagamore Hill on the half dozen addresses he is to deliver on his tour of the Middle West and South during the week from Sept. 30 to Oct. 6. He is to deliver the first at the unveiling of the McKinley monument at Canton, O., in Kokok, Ia., he will speak there and then he will begin his trip down the Mississippi to Memphis, where he will attend the Deep Waterway Convention and deliver an important address on the subject of waterway improvement. The President is deeply interested in this problem, and is one of the most cordial endorsers of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which is urging on the federal government that not less than $50,000,000 a year be expended in prosecuting such improvements. In his trip down the river he will make addresses at St. Louis and Cairo, and plans are under way to have him deliver still another speech in the South. There are indications that he will accede to this program.

After Lumber Trust.
Secretary Clegg and the Department of Justice are preparing a sharp attack with which to prod the lumber trust. This announcement was made this week and the prosecution will be the fourth leveled at the nation's big corporations. None of the officials will discuss the details, but complete information is in the hands of the Bureau of Corporations, and the first step to be taken will be the filing of this information with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Once this is done and a decision is reached, the Department of Justice will be ready to proceed. It is intimated that personal prosecution will be made in the case of Frederick Weyerhaeuser, for 40 years head of the lumber monopoly and declared to be the richest man in the world. This would exceed that of John D. Rockefeller.

New Citizens.
Word was received at the war department this week that twenty-two of the young Filipinos who have been educated in the United States have arrived in Manila. They will go at once into the government service there, giving in payment for their education a term of service equal to the time spent in this country at the government's expense. Among the twenty-two are graduates in engineering and agricultural branches, and in the law. The former will be given employment under the Philippine board of education. A number of "the little brown brothers" were educated here in the George Washington University, where they made excellent records. Many also are expected when the university opens on September 24th for the fall and winter term. There is also an unusual number of new students coming from the western states, attracted to the university by the great opportunities for graduate study to be found in the archives of the government, and by reason of the added fact that they will be enabled to study directly under noted government scientists, a large number of whom hold positions on the faculty of the institution.

New Move.
Following close on the heels of the announcement that the administration will not endeavor to have the 60th congress take up the question of state-

LINK AND PIN PLATTEVILLE BRANCH AFFECTED BY RAIN

Train on Branch Line of Mineral Point Division Falls to Make Connections This Morning.

Rain had softened the track of the Platteville branch on the Mineral Point division of the St. Paul line so much since the beginning of the down-pour yesterday that the morning train, which connects with the train from Mineral Point to Janesville at Calumet, did not arrive at the connecting point on time this morning. It is not known how far the washout is on the Platteville branch but in case the rain continues to fall in that section the trouble may become serious. The branch line from Calumet to Platteville has always been troubled by heavy rains. The water was reported to be high near New Glarus on the New Glarus and Broadhead branch, but the morning train was able to get through this morning. Bad spots on the Mineral Point division west of Janesville were not affected by rain but the Mineral Point passenger train was delayed in part slowly over the places that have been affected by previous hard rains.

WEEK'S WEATHER HAS PROVED FAVORABLE

Cloudy Days But Generally Good For Ripening Crops.

The weather during the past week was generally favorable, when all the conditions are considered. There was much cloudy weather except during the last few days of the week, when the percentage of sunshine was about normal in the southern half of the state.

The week opened with generally cool weather and the temperature continued comparatively low until the 12th, after which date the temperature rose rapidly and was decidedly above the normal at the end of the week. Temperatures as low as 32 degrees were recorded in the north-central portion of the state on the morning of the 10th, but as the weather was cloudy at the time no frost was observed. On the 14th and 15th the temperatures went as high as 84 degrees to 88 degrees. The mean temperature for the week was about 3 degrees above the seasonal average.

The precipitation was generally abundant and fairly well distributed over the state. The heaviest fall for the week occurred in the east-central section, while the total was least along the southern border.

BELOIT COUNCIL IS TO MAKE INSPECTION

Bellevue Water Rates Are Too High—Prepare to Look Into Matter.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Beloit, Wis., Sept. 18.—Bellevue the Beloit Water, Gas & Electric company is charging more for water service than is allowed under the franchise which they secured in purchasing the plant from M. M. Moore, the common council has ordered an investigation and suggested the adoption of water meters.

The council has also ordered that the city purchase for $15,000 the lot on Third and Race street now rented by the city for $200 per year as a haymarket. The property also contains buildings used by the Thompson plow works as storehouses. These buildings can be rented at $720 a year and this amount will pay the interest on the bonds which will be necessitated by the purchase.

MINERS TO MEET IN MINERAL POINT NOW

Call is Issued For Gathering September 27 Which Interests Janesville Men.

On Friday afternoon, September 27, a meeting of men interested in the mines in the western part of the state has been called to gather in Mineral Point. The call is issued by George Gilting and reads as follows:
"During the past two years there has been a great increase in mining operations in southwest Wisconsin, and vast sums of money have been spent in the development and equipment of properties, and a large number of men employed. With development on a much more extensive scale than was formerly thought possible, and the installation of modern machinery and methods, requiring larger capital, working conditions have materially changed. This period has marked the passing of the old time individual miner, who formerly worked all winter and was satisfied if his spring clean-up showed earnings of a dollar a day, and many times it showed less.

A careful examination of general conditions throughout the entire lead and zinc mining region of the state shows that the price of ore is at a low figure and the price of labor and supplies high. That the mining companies are operating under many disadvantages, and that much of the capital invested is unproductive of any returns, owing to these and other causes, some of which could be beneficially changed with slight concerted effort on the part of the ore producers.

"After a preliminary canvass among mining men of various sections of the lead and zinc field, it has been thought advisable to hold a meeting for the purpose of discussing these questions freely, in the hope that some feasible plan can be decided upon, and a practical policy adopted, whereby with a mutual understanding and a large amount working together of the producing interests some of the adverse features of present conditions will be eliminated, and there will be made possible adequate returns on the capital invested.

"This meeting should also be the means of bringing into closer relations of friendship and good will the various mining interests. Mining so far as it concerns the actual production of ore from the ground is not in the general sense a competitive business. One man's 'lucky' strike doesn't 'take' from another man's fortune. Therefore among all the productive industries the representatives of mining should stand forth prominently as an example of mutual assistance and co-operation.

DROWN'S DAUGHTER AND SELF.

Desperate Deed of an Insane Woman at Los Angeles, Cal.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 18.—Driven insane by brooding over her ill health and the protracted absence of her husband in Iowa, Mrs. Anna Parker, 31 years old, left the home of her brother-in-law Monday night, accompanied by her seven-year-old daughter, and proceeded to the shores of John's lake, at the eastern city limits, where she hurled both herself and daughter into the deep waters of the lake.

The woman left the following note: "I want to save my dear little darling from this world. You will find us in John's lake. Telephone to some friend of ours in Streator, Ill., and some one should telephone from Streator to Fred that his father is sick. He should come to Streator. Don't telephone to the folks direct. Don't take me into anyone's home. Send me to Streator."

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Hairdye was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by clinging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair, and itchy hair. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Send for a sample for—Newbro's Hairdye, The Herpelide Co., Detroit, Mich.

RESULT OF THE CONFERENCE

Matter Will Be Taken up in Milwaukee at the Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist Church.

Delegates representing the members of the twenty-nine Methodist Episcopal churches of the Janesville district who met yesterday in the Cargill Methodist church determined to appeal to the lay electoral conference for larger salaries for the ministers and for a permanent organization among the laymen of the entire Wisconsin conference to secure this and other ends.

The memorial to the lay conference, which will meet in Milwaukee on Friday of next week for the election of delegates to the general conference at Baltimore, in May, 1908, requests the appointment of a committee to inquire into the conditions of pastoral support in the Wisconsin conference, determine what is a proper standard of adequate support, and take action to bring up all the churches as far as possible to such a standard.

The committee is also to report at any further meeting of the laymen of the conference should they decide to form a laymen's association as has been done by laymen elsewhere.

A local committee was appointed by the chairman of the meeting, Dr. Stevens, to carry the memorial to the meeting at Milwaukee, and to continue the local discussion of the subject. Whittier Evans Coffman of Darlen, Josse Macdonald of Palmyra and J. E. Robinson of this city form this committee.

This action, which may become a vital factor in securing better pay for the preachers, especially in the smaller towns and villages, where preachers' salaries are unacceptably small and undervalued, was taken after a discussion of the subject by Mr. Coffman, who is pastor of the Darlen and Palmyra churches, and by others present. Resolutions commending the faithful work of Dr. E. S. McChesney, whose term as presiding elder expires at the approaching session of the annual conference, were presented by a committee consisting of T. E. Bonnell, Geo. Hahn and W. T. Saxe, and were adopted by a rising vote. The resolutions speak of Dr. McChesney as a welcome guest in the homes of the district, of his serious and interesting and profitable, of his administration as careful, systematic and politic, and of his solicitude "for the advancement of the work of God."

At the business meeting all the old officers of the district were re-elected: Pres. Dr. J. V. Stevens of Jefferson, Secretary H. A. Monheim of Clinton and Treasurer Cora Klader of Milton Junction.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Hammerlund Not to Sue: "The claim for $300 damages for injury to my property by the grading work in the Riverside park was filed and came before the city council Monday evening without my knowledge or permission," said Peter A. Hammerlund this morning. "I wish you would state in the paper that I do not claim any damages from the city."

Fall in Raceway: Former Alderman Fred Kottman, while returning from dinner to the New Dot Works yesterday, lost his footing in trying to get around a box-car on the narrow bridge which spans the raceway near the Blodgett mill and fell into the muddy water. The banks are very steep in that locality and it is doubtful whether he would have been able to get out without the assistance of Fireman Schultz of the West Side station who happened to be in the neighborhood and promptly went to his aid.

LAST NIGHT'S STORM WAS A SEVERE ONE

Fear That Hall Damaged Tobacco Appears Unfounded—Lightning Struck Carle Block.

Last evening's storm which began early and continued during the night and through today was accompanied by several flashes of lightning which it was feared would seriously damage tobacco fields not yet cut. Word from Edgerton and Janesville spoke of no damage and in the immediate vicinity of the city where hail was noticed damage to the leaf could not be noticed.

County Clerk Howard Lee was in telephone communication with George Haylock of Fulton this morning and learned that there was no hail in that locality nor to the westward last evening and that no damage was done by the storm to the tobacco still in the fields.

The lightning however was very vivid and the Carle block on the corner of River and West Milwaukee Sts. was struck on the chimney top and a few bricks loosened. Mr. W. P. Sayles and son Carlton who were in the jewelry store of Hall & Sayles both received a severe shock and Mr. Sayles today feels the effect of the shock in his arm.

BUILDERS BUSY HERE FIFTY SEASONS AGO

Myers Hotel, Tallman, Bates, Wright, and Myers Residences Built in 1857—Brick Brought by Sleighs.

During the summer of 1857 the first portions of structures of white brick were erected in the city of Janesville. Joseph T. Wright built his home on Mineral Point avenue that season and is the only man of the five who engaged in extensive building that summer who is still in possession of his property after the lapse of half a century. He remembers that the brick for the William M. Tallman residence on North Jackson street was hauled by wagon from Milwaukee during the previous winter, while that for the Hotel Myers and his own house was transported in the same manner from the kilns at Edgerton. The Myers residence on South East street and the A. C. Bates home—now the Eaton flats—were also constructed that year. George Barnes built the Tallman house and Dr. Bailey the Myers residence.

A Massachusetts court holds that a certificate of deposit is designed to circulate as money like bills of the bank and to be used for convenience and safety. That is all we claim for them and the court decision clinches the matter. They are the only form of money that draw interest from date and like any other form they are redeemable on demand. Like money in your pocket the bank can not be cashed, for whoever they may have been issued to the bank has no means of knowing to whom they may at present belong. They are convenient because of their easy negotiability and also because they must be properly endorsed before we will pay them.

S.S.S. A CERTAIN SAFE TREATMENT

Even if mercury and potash could cure Contagious Blood Poison the condition in which these strong minerals leave the system would make the "cure" worse than the disease. But they cannot cure the vile disorder; they can only cover up the symptoms for awhile or mask the disease in the system, but as soon as the treatment is left off the hideous symptoms return. Mercury and potash eat out the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels, produce chronic dyspepsia by drying up the gastric juices, cause the teeth to decay, and often completely break down the constitution, and where they are used in large quantities, the bones become affected, while the disease for which one has so long taken this destructive treatment has not been cured. Contagious Blood Poison is a disease it will not do to trifle with. It is a vile, dangerous and destructive disorder. When the blood becomes infected with its virus the mouth and throat ulcerate, hair and eyebrows come out, glands in the neck and groin swell, copper-colored spots appear on the flesh, and in severe cases sores break out on the body, the finger nails drop off and the sufferer is diseased from head to foot. S. S. S. is the only known antidote for Contagious Blood Poison—the one remedy that is able to get to the root of the disease and force out every particle of the poison so that there are never any signs of its return. It is purely vegetable, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks of known curative value. Instead of leaving bad after-effects as some medicines do, S. S. S. tones up every part of the system and puts every part of the body in perfect health. It will also remove any lingering effects of former mineral treatment while eradicating the poison from the circulation. Special book on the home treatment of this disease and any medical advice desired furnished free to all who write.

"Pleasant and Enjoyable"

it is (in the hot summer months) to spend a few weeks where the ocean breezes blow, particularly if the regular comforts and necessities of civilized life, including a really good malt and hop beer like are to be had. This famous beer, brewed with sterling honesty, foams with life, sparkles with strength and the very taste of it is a pure delight. Every bottle is warranted to stand any climate, being fully aged and mature. Its aromatic tang and delicious mellow fragrance makes "Peerless" peculiarly grateful in hot weather. "Peerless" does not create thirst but quenches it, because it is brewed by the "Gund Natural Process" from the best hops and barley in the world. It satisfies and pleases, stimulates the gastric juices, and doctors declare that it is not only "a ripping good medicine" for those who are weak and run down, but is also of substantial food value when solid foods are inadvisable. It contains about 3 1/2 % of alcohol (which aids digestion) and is thus really a temperance beverage. For over 50 years it has surpassed all its competitors and represents in the most liberal sense "the survival of the fittest." Bottled at La Crosse only. Sold everywhere by reputable dealers. The home and family trade a specialty. Try a case delivered—a case of "Peerless"—"the beer that makes you glad." Always the same—good and pure. Write or phone or call if you want for your home the best bottled beer that is to be had.

The Opal Serpent

By FERGUS HUME.

Author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," "The Mandarin's Fan," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY G. W. BILLINGHAM COMPANY

"Oh, never mind the money. I must get away from that house. If it was not for Deborah I would be still more afraid. I often think my father is mad. But there," Sylvia rose and shook out her skirts. "I have no right to talk so and only do so to you that you may know what I feel. I'll speak to my father myself and may we are engaged. If he forbids our marriage I shall run away with you, Paul," said poor Sylvia, the tears in her eyes. Paul was so enchanted with this speech that he would have devoted public opinion by embracing her there and then, but Sylvia walked away rapidly down Gwynne street and shook her head with a pained up mouth when Paul took a few steps after her. Recognizing that it would be wise not to follow her to the shop lest the suspicious old man should be looking out, he went on his homeward way.

When he drew near his home he met Greville Hay, who was smiling along swinging his cane. "I was just looking for you," he said, greeting Paul in his usual self-complacent manner. "It worries me to think you are so hard up, though I'm not a fellow given to sentiment as a rule. Let me lend you a fiver."

Paul shook his head. "Thank you all the same."

"Well, then, sell me the brooch," Hay suddenly looked squarely at Hay, who met his gaze calmly. "Do you know anything of that brooch?" he asked.

"What do you mean? It is a brooch of Indian workmanship; that is all I know. I want to give a lady a present, and if you will sell it to me I'll take it, to help you, thus killing two birds at one shot."

"I don't want to sell it," said Paul, looking round. His eyes fell on a respectable man across the road who appeared to be a workman, as he had a bag of tools on his shoulder. He was looking into a shop window, but also as Paul suddenly thought—seemed to be observing him and Hay. However, the incident was not worth noticing, so he continued his speech to Greville.

"I tried to pawn it with Aaron Norman," he said.

"Well, what did you get on it?" asked Hay, with a yawn.

"Nothing. The old man faints when I showed him the brooch. That is why I asked you if you know anything strange about the article."

Hay shook his head, but looked curiously at Beecot. "Do you know anything yourself?" he asked. "You seem to have something on your mind about that brooch."

"There is something queer about it," said Paul. "Why should Aaron Norman faint when he saw it?"

Hay yawned again. "You had better ask your one-eyed friend. I think you said he was one-eyed."

"He is, and a frightened sort of man. But there's nothing about that old serpent to make him faint."

"Perhaps he did so because it is in the shape of a serpent," suggested Greville. "A constitutional falling perhaps. Some people hate cats and others detest birds. Your one-eyed friend may have a loathing of snakes and can't bear to see the representation of one."

"It might be that," said Beecot, after a pause. "Aaron is a strange sort of chap. A man with a past, I should say."

"You make me curious," said Greville, laughing in a bored manner. "I think I'll go to the shop myself and have a look at him. Good day."

The more Paul thought of the episode of the brooch the stranger it seemed, and Sylvia's tale of her father's queer habits did not make Paul wonder the less. However, he resolved to write to his mother and was just mounting his stairs to do so when he heard a "dog barking, sir," and behind the working man, bag of tools, pipe and all.

"Dog barking, sir," said the man civilly, "but that gentleman you was talking to—know his name, sir?"

"What the devil's that to you?" asked Paul angrily.

"Nothing, sir, only he owes me a little bill."

"Go and ask him for it, then."

"I don't know his address, sir."

"Oh, he's hanged!" Paul went on, when the man spoke again.

"He's what I call a man on the march, sir. Have a care," and he departed quickly.

Paul stared. What did the working man mean, and was he a working man?

Being too long and not the sort required. But the editor, in a hasty interview, admitted that he liked Paul's work and would give him £3 for a tale written on certain lines likely to be popular with the public. Paul did not care to set forth another person's ideas, especially as these were old and very conventional, but as he required money he set to work and labored to produce what would bring him in the cash. He made several attempts before he reached the editor's level, which was low rather than high, and succeeded in getting the tale accepted. With three golden pounds in his pocket and exultation in his heart, for every success seemed to bring him nearer to Sylvia, Paul returned to his nether castle and found waiting for him a letter from his mother.

It was written in a low spirited sort of way, characteristic of Mrs. Beecot, but with a true motherly heart. After two pages of lamentation over his absence and a description of how the head of the household managed to bear up against the affliction of his son's absence, Mrs. Beecot proceeded to explain about the brooch.

"Why do you ask me about the opal brooch, my dear boy?" wrote Mrs. Beecot in her scarily handwriting. "All I know is that your father bought it out of a pawnbroker's shop in Stowley, which is some town in the midlands. Your father was traveling there and saw the brooch by chance. As I always thought opals unlucky he was anxious to make me see the folly of such a superstition, so he bought the brooch and took it away with him. Afterward, I believe, he received a letter from the pawnbroker saying that his assistant had sold the brooch by mistake; that the time for redeeming it had not run out when your father bought it. The pawnbroker asked that the brooch might be returned and wanted to pay back the money. But you know what your father is. He refused at once to give back the brooch and insisted on my wearing it. I had a bad fall while wearing it and then was thrown out of that high dogcart your father would insist on driving. I am sure the brooch or the stones are unlucky, and as after a time your father forgot all about it I let it lie in my jewel case. For years I had not worn it, and as I think it is unlucky and as you need money, my darling boy, I hope you will sell it. There is no need to pawn it, as you say. I never want to see the brooch again. But regarding your health," etc.

There was nothing in the letter to explain Norman's faint. It was certainly strange that the pawnbroker from whom the brooch had been originally purchased should have demanded it back, and the excuse given seemed rather a weak one. However, Paul did not waste time in thinking over this, but resolved to tell Aaron what his mother had said.

He had received two letters from Sylvia, mentioning, among other things, that her father, now quite well, was asking after Paul and urging him to come and see him. "My father appears to have a fancy for you," wrote Sylvia, "so if you are very nice, as nice as you can be, perhaps he won't be very angry if you tell him we are engaged." There was much more to the same effect, which Paul thought good advice, and he intended to adopt the same. It was necessary that he should tell Aaron of his love if things were to be conducted in a straightforward and honorable manner. And Paul had no desire to conduct them otherwise.

Having made up his mind to see Aaron again, Paul bethought himself of Greville Hay. So Beecot wrote to Greville Hay at his Camden Hill chamber and told him he intended to go to Gwynne street on a certain day at a certain time. To this Greville responded by saying that he was at Paul's service and would come, especially as he wanted to see Dulcinea of Gwynne street.

The man about town duly made his appearance to the very minute. "I always keep appointments," he explained when Paul congratulated him on his punctuality. "There's nothing amuses me so much as to be kept waiting, so I invariably practice what I preach. Well, Paul, how is Dulcinea of Gwynne street?"

"She is very well," replied Paul, who was still of young enough lover to blush, "but I have not seen her since we last met. I waited for a letter from my mother about the brooch, so that I might explain to Aaron how she got it. The old man has been asking after me."

"Oh, confound the brooch!" said Greville in his cool manner. "I don't want to hear about it. Let us talk of Dulcinea."

"Rather let us talk of yourself," said Paul.

"Not an interesting subject," replied Hay, rising as Paul opened his garment door for departure. "You know all about me."

"No! I don't know why you are called a man on the march."

Hay dashed and turned sharply. "What do you mean?" he asked in a particularly quiet tone.

"I don't know what I do mean," said Paul. "Do you remember that working man with the bag of tools who was across the road when we last conversed?"

"No," said Hay, starting. "I never notice creatures of that class. Why?"

"Because he asked me who you were and where you lived. It seems you owe him some money."

"That is very probable," said Hay equally. "I owe most people money, and if this man has a debt against me he would certainly know all about me as to address and name."

"So I thought," replied Paul, "but the queer thing is that he told me to take care and called you a man on the march. What does it mean? I never heard the phrase before."

"I have," said Hay, proceeding calmly to the somewhat stale stairs. "A man on the march means one who wants to marry and is eligible for any help which comes along with a sufficient rowl."

Greville was quicker sighted than Paul, for the moment they arrived at the bottom of the stairs and were about to emerge into the street he saw a messenger. "Do you know if my gent of that name lives here, governor?" asked the boy, holding out the buff colored envelope.

DEMOCRATS HAVE WON IN OKLAHOMA

CONSTITUTION IS ADOPTED BY A LARGE MAJORITY.

HASKELL FOR GOVERNOR

Republicans Probably Elect Three of Five Congressmen—State-Wide Prohibition Seems to Have Carried.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 18.—Returns received from the larger cities and counties of Oklahoma and Indian Territory up to midnight indicate that the constitution of the proposed new state has been adopted by a large majority; that the prohibition clause of the constitution, which was voted on separately, has also been ratified, and that the Democratic state ticket, headed by C. N. Haskell for governor, has been elected over the Republican ticket, headed by Frank Frantz, the present territorial governor of Oklahoma.

The voting was very heavy. Several days will elapse before complete returns are in.

Three Republican Congressmen. The new state elects five congressmen. In the First, Second and Third districts the Republicans expected to elect ex-Delégate to Congress B. S. McPherson, ex-Territorial Gov. T. B. Ferguson, and Frank Hubbard. The Fourth and Fifth districts have been conceded to the Democrats, whose candidates in the respective districts were C. D. Carter and Scott Perkin.

The convention that framed the constitution was heavily Democratic, and the constitution was objections to the Republicans. Secretary Taft, speaking recently at Oklahoma City, advised Republicans to vote against the constitution. Because of the strong desire for statehood, however, the Republican party did not attempt to defeat the constitution. The new state must await the constitution's endorsement by President Roosevelt, who will either confirm or reject it upon his judgment as to whether or not it conforms to the enabling act of congress and the constitution of the United States.

State-Wide Prohibition. In the enabling act congress provided for prohibition in the Indian Territory for 21 years from January 1, 1907. The prohibition clause voted on Tuesday applies the same provision to the Oklahoma side of the new state. If it has carried, as seems probable, state-wide prohibition will be a part of the constitution for 21 years, and at the end of that period will remain in force indefinitely unless repealed.

The Democratic state committee claims the election of Haskell for governor by 40,000 and the Republican state committee claims the election for Frantz by 10,000. Frantz is running for ahead of his ticket, but otherwise the Democrats of both territories seem to be polling the majority of 1906.

CHICAGO'S CHARTER BEATEN. Voters Reject the Instrument at the Special Election.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Chicago's new city charter, the result of many months' work by committees and organizations, was defeated in the special election Tuesday. The vote was nearly two to one against it.

The efforts of the United societies for Local Self-government, the South Park board, the Demos faction among the Republicans and of the Democrats generally, are credited with the result. The claim that the new charter would result in much higher taxes had much to do with its defeat.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 18.—The new charter proposition which was before the Minneapolis voters here for the third time, was voted down almost overwhelmingly. Labor's vote was in opposition.

Scarcity of Clergymen. The supply of clergymen in England is not keeping pace with the demand so far as the Episcopal church is concerned. The Trinity ordination lists showing this year only an increase of eight dozens over 1906.

OIL TRUST BONDS
SET AT $6,000,000

BIGGEST SECURITY ON RECORD
FIXED BY JUDGE GROSSCUP.

IN APPEAL FROM LANDIS

Attorneys for Both Sides Dissatisfied
—Standard May Ask Reversal of Fine Because of Immunity Agreement.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The largest bonds in the history of criminal jurisprudence were fixed Tuesday by Judge Peter B. Grosscup, of the United States circuit court, to secure the government's $29,240,000 judgment against the Standard Oil company of Indiana pending an appeal from the sentence imposed by Judge Landis.

The aggregate security required by Judge Grosscup is $6,000,000, represented by two bonds—a forthcoming bond of $4,000,000 and a conditional bond of $2,000,000. The total was considered by Judge Grosscup to represent the value of the property owned by the defendant company.

Both Sides Dissatisfied.
Both the attorneys for the government and the oil company expressed chagrin over the court's decision. District Attorney Sims announced to the court that he was not satisfied with the amount of the security. His arguments had been in favor of a bond equalling the amount of the fine. John S. Miller, attorney for the Rockefeller corporation, protested that the estimate of the assets of the Indiana company were too high.

Judge Grosscup announced that he would grant the district attorney an opportunity later on to submit arguments to show why the bonds should be larger.

Another matter still to be definitely settled before the bond is filed and a writ of supersedeas granted to stay execution of the judgment is whether the Standard Oil company of New Jersey can go on the bonds of the Indiana company. How to obtain the record-breaking security appeared to puzzle Attorney Miller.

Standard May Sign Bond.
After protesting briefly that the amount was too high, he inquired if the larger bond might not be an individual bond or whether the guaranty of a surety company was required. The court ruled that the $4,000,000 bond might be supplied on individual security, but that the smaller bond must have a surety company.

"It has been suggested," said Mr. Miller, "that the Standard Oil company of New Jersey might be surety upon the bond and I should like to settle that matter."

"The court will accept it if the corporation has the power to make a bond," responded Judge Grosscup. "I am not sure that it has."

"It has been shown in this record that the Standard of New Jersey owns practically all the stock of the defendant company," said Mr. Miller, "and any corporation has the incidental power to protect its own."

"If its ownership is considered in that light," interposed Mr. Sims, "why is it not considered in fixing the amount of the bond?"

Grosscup Explains Position.
Judge Grosscup replied that in fixing the fine the lower court had the right to consider who the real and who the nominal defendant was, but that he himself had no right to create a liability against the Standard Oil company of New Jersey without a trial in court.

It was announced that the $4,000,000 bond is to indemnify the government against any alteration of the value of the plant of the defendant company at Whiting, Ind., and the $2,000,000 bond is to be applied toward payment of the judgment if it is sustained in the court of appeals.

Beats All Wing Target Records.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 18.—All records for rifle shooting at wing targets were broken Tuesday when A. D. Toepferwein, the champion, broke 5,750 targets without a miss. Mr. Toepferwein began shooting at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, but had to stop after making the above score because the powder from the cartridges seriously affected his sight.

Pottibone May Be Fatally Ill.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 18.—George A. Pottibone was unable to appear in the district court Tuesday to have his case set for trial. An affidavit of the attending physician states that Pottibone is suffering from ulcer of the bladder, which, unless soon checked, will prove fatal. It says an operation may be necessary, but fears the patient will be unable to survive it.

Woman Lawyer Is Arrested.

Newburyport, Mass., Sept. 18.—Miss Bertha A. Goodwin, who has practiced law here and in nearby cities, was placed under arrest Tuesday night at the request of the police of Pittsburg, Pa. The police authorities here were informed that Miss Goodwin is wanted in Pittsburg on charges of embezzlement. She was clad in men's clothing when arrested.

Railway Increases Capital Stock.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 18.—The Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie railroad Tuesday afternoon filed amended articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. Its capital stock is increased from $21,000,000 to $42,000,000.

OLD JOHN L. AWAKES.

Says Fighting Not So Dangerous as Football or Horse Riding.

"Every young man from fifteen to twenty-one years of age should be taught the manly art of self defense," says John L. Sullivan, the retired pugilist.

"A great many people think that if a man is a boxer or fighter he has got to be a tough, but such is not the case. A boxer or a fighter can be as much of a gentleman as the banker, broker, physician or merchant, and if the manly art of self defense was taught there would be less murder, less shooting and firearms used. They would resort to mainly means to settle their difficulties. Now, I have always advocated boxing as a clean, manly, healthy exercise, more so than football playing, wrestling or jockeying. There is never a time that a jockey mounts a horse in a running race that he doesn't take his life in his hands. There have been fewer fatalities in the prize ring and contests of this kind than among football players and jockeys."

"Statistics will prove that this is a fact. In 1906, during the football season, there were over fifteen football players killed, and no one knows how many were maimed and injured for life."

"Boxing has not improved as an art with the passing of the years, though there were not as many boxers fifteen years ago as now. It is an evident fact that when I took up boxing I put it on the plane that it now maintains. I put it in a shape so that they could make some money out of it, both the managers and the fighters. Boxing has gone ahead in this country and deteriorated in England. They have not had a champion in England for a long time, neither heavy nor light weight. Mitchell was the last champion they had in England. Jim Sisco, like myself, was champion both in this country and in England in his day. He is still alive. This goes to show that boxers, or fighters, if you prefer that term, have lived to a good old age. Macco is seventy-four years of age and well and hearty today."

"On what lines was the boxing different fifteen years ago? More foot racing? The difference in the style of fighting? Well, in boxing fifteen years ago they used to fight for very small prizes. The boxing prize was $1,000 for international championship or £200 in English money."

"Sayers and Freeman fought in 1890, on the 7th day of April, at Farnborough for $1,000 a side for the heavy-weight championship of the world. Spectators broke into the ring, and the referee declared it no contest. Boxing has not improved any."

"The lightweight championship of twenty years ago was fought for by JOHN L. SULLIVAN AS HE APPEARS TODAY. Such men as Billy Edwards, Arthur Chambers, Tim Collins, Mullins and Patky Sheppard. Now they could fight all the lightweights we have today and beat them easily. It seems today the lightweights have the honors on fighting. It is a fact that more lightweight fights have been put in the ring in the last four years than any other class of fighters, for the particular reason that there don't seem to be any other classes to fight. In the lightweight class are Britt, Nelson, Corbett and McGovern. Jim Jeffries has not trained for a heavyweight fight for a long time, nor has Jim Corbett. There has been no middleweight fighting. The middleweight used to be 154 pounds; now they make it as high as 168 pounds. Middleweight was 154 pounds; anything over 154 pounds was considered heavyweight. The best man in this country or England, either, did not weigh more than 165 pounds. Morrissey, Freeman, Colburn, Macco and John Dwyer did not weigh over 165 pounds in condition, and they were classed in the heavyweights. These have been in vogue only within the last ten years. According to Fitzsimons, in his day there were only four weights—featherweights, lightweights, middleweights and heavyweights; but in this day they have bantamweights, featherweights, lightweights, welterweights, middleweights and heavyweights—in fact, they make their own weights."

May Do Away With Steel Spikes.

Miller Huggins, the snappy second baseman of the Cincinnati team, is trying out an experiment to see if he cannot eliminate the steel spikes from baseball. The steel spike, while it has been in use for years, has always been a menace to baseball. Every season many players are hurt seriously, and many cases have been known where the injured men suffered severely of resultant blood poisoning. Huggins has adopted a spike with leather cleats, very like those used in football. He has only been trying them for a few days and is not yet ready to give an opinion as to their merit.
